
SAT

A 6x6 grid of squares. Each square in the grid contains a dashed line that forms a smaller square in its bottom-left corner. The dashed lines are oriented such that they are parallel to the edges of the grid squares. The dashed lines in each square are positioned at a distance of approximately one-third of the side length from the bottom and left edges, creating a consistent pattern across the entire grid.